To Whom It May Concern,

I am happy to recommend Nakul Maini. I have worked with him over the past Six months on business strategy initiatives, and he has consistently impressed me with his sharp analytical mind and thoughtful approach to complex problems.

Nakul has a rare ability to break down ambiguous challenges, identify what truly matters, and craft clear, actionable strategies. He is thorough in his research, sound in his judgment, and always presents his ideas with clarity and confidence. Whether working independently or with a team, he brings both professionalism and a collaborative spirit.

Equally important, Nakul is intellectually curious and genuinely committed to growth—qualities that I know will serve him well as he begins his career. I have no doubt he will make meaningful contributions to any field he enters.

I recommend him without reservation. Please don't hesitate to reach out if you need further information.

Sincerely,

James Alcide
